F o r e w o r d . . .

We, the staff of the 1922 Spectrum take pleasure in presenting this record of the crowning year at Northwestern.

Perhaps in return for the confidence that has been placed in us and the inexpressible honor that has been bestowed upon us, we have not given value received; perhaps in our efforts to paint a true picture of North-Western life, some activities have received too prominent a place, while others have been neglected. Remember, gentle reader, it is beyond the ken of human knowledge to portray adequately in such a limited space the varied and pre-eminent activities of our Alma Mater.

But if in after years when Time, that inevitable and unyielding destroyer of boon companionship, has effaced from our minds the memories of days spent here, these humble pages shall conjure up from the storehouses of our memories the events that transpired in the purple twilight of yesterday, then we feel as if our endeavors have not been in vain.

--Au Revoir--

When this little book shall have been perused by its loyal supporters, college days for the Class of 1922 will be over forever. Friendships dear and sacred must be broken, each member taking his own little way down the winding pathway of life.

Looking forward to the time when these days will be only golden memories, we have placed here scenes which we trust will enable you to live anew these days of youth and joy and friendly rivalry. May they help you in memory to stroll again beneath the spreading trees, or wander by the singing brooks, to bask in early morning's sun or to dream in the bright moonlight glare.

If they shall have helped to make your memories more precious, and your reminiscences more vivid, their mission will have been amply realized.

Hail, Hail Northwestern Hail!
 Our Alma Mater true,
 We'll always, always loyal be
 To you, to you, to you.

How beautiful when at the day's mild closing,
Thy moonlit towers in softer radiance gleamed.

Where Action and Reaction take place

The camera man lost some of the atmosphere by taking this picture by day.

Here live embattled Sport and robust Health—
Here, toil and care forgotten,
All are young again.

If these mute walls could only speak,
What tales of love they could reveal.

The spacious lawn and wide veranda call us on balmy day and starlit eve. We are friends to the place.

Against the rigors of cruel winter,
Protecting Nature has lain
a sheet of snow.

Where strolled book-tired students, or couples not in haste, and others not on business bent.

Many a sore throat can be traced to those cold stones,—yet we persist!

So often assisted by willing Sophomores, frightened Freshmen have disturbed thy chilling waters.

Where Duty gives
Way to quiet Relaxation.

Onward the long road,
Like life's pathway,
Winds slowly toward the goal.

How oft beside thy singing brook has rested
Poet or dreamer, youth or lovely maid.

SENIORS

HUGO A. NOERENBERG, B.A.
Norfolk, Nebr.

Hugo has been one of the most popular fellows in school. He won his "N" in football, was on the basketball team two years and was always able to win his share of the points in a track meet. His prowess helped North-Western to many a victory during his four years on her teams. His greatest achievement was the successful management of the College Dining Hall.

RUTH C. STOCKEBRAND, B.S.
Yates Center, Kans.

Here is Stockie: she of the friendly manner and infectious laugh. She has a ready smile for every one and is fitting herself to wipe away dispeptic frowns by her skill in the culinary art. She is the very antithesis of gloom—for who could be disconsolate around her?—She was a faithful and trusty guard on the three-time girls' Championship B. B. team.

ALICE E. STRUTZ, B.A.
Jamestown, N. D.

Alice is of the quiet, modest, considerate, reserved type. She has a pleasant, friendly disposition and is liked by all who know her. Coming from N. Dakota, she is a true daughter of the West. She is a girl who likes only the genuine and whole-hearted work of any kind. With such a motto as a standard we can predict only the greatest of success for her; and we wish for you, Alice, the most of happiness and success in life.

WALTER R. WEGNER, B.A.
Loveland, Colo.

Walter came to us at the beginning of his Junior year. As a believer in the fair sex he has earned a place near the top of the list and his successes with the fair ones are marked by his many conquests. His has been the unenviable task of squeezing money from pocketbooks already overtaxed by four years of terrible strain. Through it all he has come with a victorious smile.

EARL E. BARTH, B.A.
Olivet, S. D.

By choice a doctor, by inclination goodness knows what! He delights in telling anyone who will listen about the swine they raise on his farm in South Dakota. For two years he held down the position of tackle on the football squad and successfully managed the Basketball team this year. While he was still in the Academy, Dan Cupid found his vulnerable spot.

ROY W. BERG, B.A.
Hartford, Wis.

Roy is the "Hello" man when it comes to the socials. From a worldly standpoint Roy is well versed. He is manly, has a good line and is well liked by everyone. With these qualifications added to his persistent seriousness he cannot fail to make a competent worker when he has completed his course across the way.

VERNA A. BERGER, B.A.
Bremen, Ind.

Although Verna found it necessary to drop out a year, she liked the old class so well that she has made up her work to graduate with us. She surely is a pleasant little girl and when she comes around it's good-bye, blues, and hello, smiles. If you are looking for a convincing debater, you won't have to go any farther. See Joe for particulars.

RUTH BEYLER, B.S.
Bremen, Ind.

Ruth isn't seen much around the campus and is heard even less. But quietly she goes about her work, never complaining, always smiling. Surely her sunny disposition will light up some dark corner of this little planet.

"Old Luther used a hammer,

The church door to molest;

Ruth has a charming manner—

Dan Cupid did the rest."

STANLEY W. BOMBERGER, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

Stan is an honor student, but is greatly hindered by the failure of the Profs to realize the fact. Bom was faithful center on the football team and, though he looked hard at his opponents, they know that he didn't mean it—it's just the way he looked. As an accommodating store-keeper he is making a great success, and we are depending upon him to make one of the future prominent citizens of Naperville.

JOHN BEOPPLE, B.A.
Newark, N. J.

John stayed out one year to mix practice with theory and did a fine piece of church building in the East. In love he is as consistent as in everything else. We are safe in predicting that this same consistency will help him toward a future success. The wishes of '21 and '22 go with you. The loss of '21 was a distinct gain to the class of '22.

"A man who consecrates his hours

By vigorous efforts and honest aim.

WALTER W. BRANDES, B.A.
Streator, Ill.

As far as outward appearances are concerned a serious thought about the ladies has never struck Walter. He has gone placidly on as if they were not in the scheme of creation. However after the episode of the championship B.B. game we are looking for evidence of a speedy and mighty fall. He expects to begin work toward his M.D. at North-Western Medical next fall.

CHRISTINE BRUNEMEIER, B.S.
Hubbard, Ia.

While our class was struggling through the freshman year, Christine was a senior in the Academy. We can't quite see how she was able to do it, but when we began the second year, we found that she had joined our number, skipping the Freshman year entirely. We are glad that she is one of us, for she is thoughtful, kind, and always true.

ALICE BREMER, B.S.
Bismarek, N. D.

Alice joined our class somewhat late in our Freshman year, but was soon right at home among us. Her outstanding characteristic is that it makes no difference where or under what conditions you meet her, she is the same sweet-tempered Alice. Her chief interest seems to be in the home Ec. department, where she has achieved great skill.

RUTH C. DISSINGER, B.A.
Abilene, Kans.

Ruth began college with the handicap of a brother's good reputation to live up to, but she has made good, nevertheless. She attended another school for two years, but it doesn't seem to have hurt her.

There was once a maiden called Ruth
Who owned an appendix, forsooth,
But they took it away,
As we're happy to say,
And now she's without it, is Ruth.

ARNE ALBERT EHLERS, B.A.
Marshall, Minn.

Arne began college as a member of the class of '21, but took time out for a year to help settle the fuss "over there." A more loyal supporter of all that deserves support could not be found. His heart seems yet unresponsive to love's gentle call.

Mysterious love, uncertain treasure,
Hast thou more of pain or pleasure?

LENA E. DRAEGER, B.A.
Juneau, Wis.

Long before she joined our ranks in the fall of 1918 she had already fallen prey to Cupid's arrows. She always meets you with a smile and faces the world with a laugh—just the one to turn your dark clouds inside out. Years hence First Church will still reverberate with the sweet melodies she loved to sing.

ARTHUR W. EHRET, B.A.
Selah, Wash.

Like Selah in poetic expression he is quiet and silent and thereby fools the Profs. He is expert at the "love" game, but we haven't been watching his mail box to see why he doesn't pursue the other kind here. He specializes in orchestra and violin and has the violinist's twitch perfected to the 'nth degree. Through his efforts many of our functions have been sweetened by beautiful musical strains.

ERMA G. FAUSSET, B.S.
Waterloo, Ind.

Erma hails from the town that made Napoleon famous. In basketball she is not much interested, but if you would know anything about "calories" just call on her, and when it comes to convincing the Profs that she knows just what she ought to know about the subject in question, she is by no means a back number. May the best of luck be yours.

DAVID W. EINSELE, B.A.
Tiffin, Ohio

When the class of '22 were Frosh David spent a year in sunny (?) France helping Uncle Sam put the Huns back where they belonged. He spent his time with the First Army Ordnance Detachment, Argonne Sector. He comes to us after three years at Heidelberg U., and is a brother of Isaac Einsele of former residence and fame. In chemistry he doth take his delight.

MATIE VIOLA FLESSNER, B.A.
Cullom, Ill.

Her ever present smile, her sunny disposition, and ability to cast aside worries have won her many friends. And when the best in the world comes to you, we will only say, "It's her's by rights." She is so obliging and kind, If a favor to ask you're inclined, She may say "O-o-o-o-o- No," But you know she will go, And soon 't will be done, you will find.

ORUS G. GRENZEBACK, B.A.
Syracuse, N. Y.

When a big man who could be trusted to bear a big responsibility was needed, Orus was always selected. He seldom fails to get what he goes after—speaking in more than one sense. Always standing for the right and not caring who knew it, "Grenze" was the kind of man we wished for a friend and to every real man he was a friend.

BEULAH M. GACKLER, B.S.
Middleville, Mich.

She believes that there is something that speaks louder than words can possibly speak. It hasn't as yet been our good fortune to see him, but last fall we found out why the mail man called so often at her house.

Some learn love's art on moonlit lake,
Or campus strolls endorse;
Of all the methods known, I'll take
The correspondence course.

WESLEY P. GRONEWALD, B.A.
Chicago, Ill.

Without "Wes" there would be a vacant place in most school activities. He has always been at home on the basketball floor, the football field, and baseball diamond, and not less in the Glee Club and on the Y. M. Cabinet. In spite of his activities, he has found time to be a friend to every one in his class. "Wes" expects to go into the teaching game, temporarily at least.

ATLEE L. HAFENRICHTER, B.A.,
Plainfield, Ill.

When he gets his degree this year it ought to be read on a thermometer judging from the number of courses he has taken. He is by fortune a farmer, a musician by talent, a teacher by profession, and gets his degree in Botany. He is an accomplished musician, and has been instructor in reed instruments for several years, besides serving as assistant director of the band.

ALPHAÆUS M. GUHL, B.A.
Cleveland, O.

Busy little Publisher of the Chronicle, he is always ready with a bubbling laugh and a fund of stories. His chief ambition is to make everyone happy, and next to this, Bolton Hall holds his constant attention. He is the kind of a person every one admires and what he lacks in stature he makes up in character, for, chemically speaking, it effervesces like a crystal of sodium sulphate.

ESTHER HAFENRICHTER, B.A.
Plainfield, Ill.

They say she specialized in history, but we frankly believe that it is contemporaneous history she'll be making. History, singing and walking are her hobbies. "If music be the food of love, play on."

"Tis half a song I've sung.

And half a tale I've told.

Her other half is waiting

For her out in the cold.

MABEL E. HENGFUSS, B.A.
Westfield, Wis.

Mabel made her debut at North-Western in the fall of '16. A list of Mabel's virtues would exhaust the category. She is sympathetic and kind-hearted — all characteristics which have made her a decided success as Y. W. President this year. Mabel leaves in North-Western a host of friends whose best wishes for a successful and happy life will ever follow her.

IRENE R. HAUMERSON, B.A.
Racine, Wis.

Irene has proven her debating ability. Her scholarship has been of high rank, and she has been an all around college girl, too. She has the quiet force that gets many things done well. With apologies to the Minstrel we can safely say that she has rigorously followed all the injunctions of the Bible save one—she is not without Geil.

LUELLA D. HILKER, B.A.
Racine, Wis.

Always good natured and happy, Lu captivates her friends with her sunny disposition. Say, did you ever see her really serious? No one else has either. If all the world were like you the offensive word "pessimist" would be driven out of the language. She admits her highest ambition is to be a minister's wife and her goal is not far distant.

MILDRED P. KLINE, B.A.,
Naperville, Ill.

Mil can be gay, serious or anything else you wish. Talkative and expressive, she does not fear to do or speak what she believes is right. Strictly speaking, she has the dope on us all, for she has assisted the Registrar for two years. We look for her to champion every worthy cause in the days to come.

ERNEST JONES, B.A.
Marion, Kans.

A man who only sees the silver lining of every cloud and has had few worries in his college career. He is well versed in science, well liked by everyone, and loves only one girl. With these qualifications added to his persistent seriousness in life he cannot fail to make a competent teacher. May Fortune smile upon thee with never a glance from his daughter, Misfortune.

WILLARD A. KLINGBEIL, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

"A man he seemed of cheerful yesterdays
And confident tomorrows."

Bill is a man that once his word is given in promise, he will see that it is fulfilled. Bill is seldom seen outside his classes, being so absorbed in radio telephony that he scarcely takes time out for meals. Go to it, and may you discover something now baffling the scientific world.

LULA L. KUSKE, B.A.
Hutchinson, Minn.

Lula is the personification of athletics, energy and enthusiasm. Even when she is tired out she manages to give the impression that she is just aching to run a race or climb a tree. As star forward on the class basketball team she surely made the opponents worry whenever she got hold of the ball. In addition to her athletic tendencies she was four years a member of the Glee Club. Lu's outstanding characteristic is her talkativeness.

MABEL KNOCHE, B.A.
Cedar Falls, Ia.

"Bright and airy—a social elf of wondrous fame."

Mabel was not one of the original '22's, but came to us when we were Sophs. If all of her original class were like her it must have been some peppy class. Mabel is looking to the peerage—she already has her eye on an Earl. Public spirited, full of enthusiasm and genuine interest, she captivates the judges in Varsity debates.

GLADYS N. LANG, B.A.
Cedar Falls, Ia.

Gladys has a spirit which will not be perturbed; perfect composure, until some one mentions a mouse! Tall, pretty and lively, she has won a host of friends. One of the very few who have ever succeeded in pulling an A in Bible. She likes Cedar Falls and N. W., but a part of each, she says, makes an ideal combination. We know you will prove a real friend to humanity in the future.

ROY E. LONG, B.A.
Scotland, S. D.

Shorty's home is in Scotland, S. D., but he has been at Naperville so long that he almost considers himself one of the "fathers of the institution." He came in the fall of 1914. He is a jolly good fellow and well liked by all who know him. He has budded out into society long ago and claimed one of the North Western's own. We wish him the best success in the work of exemplary living on foreign strand. He now trods the cinder path over to the "Sem."

WEBSTER LAUBENSTEIN, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

Laubie's hobbies are singing, sleep, and love and he is a shark in all of them. Who could be other than a friend of Laubie with his genial way, which sweetens some of this world's strain. He can sing till we forget the League Rules and all else that troubles. One of the few who believe that Milwaukee isn't such a bad place after all.

HELEN L. MAASER, B.A.
Waverly, Ia.

Helen became one of our number at the beginning of the Junior year. We must confess that she was a bit hard to get acquainted with, but she has been found a loyal supporter of the class and its ideals. Both years she has assisted in services with her musical talent. We hope that you may continue to serve humanity in the days after Graduation.

HERMAN F. MEYER, B.A.
Altoona, Pa.

To do him justice we would need a vellum edition. His specialty is Ruth, next to that, biology. He will write a book on Iethiosaparous. Then he has a peculiar style of shaving, but that's another story; ask him about it. Herman is the kind of fellow that doesn't tie a condition to his friendships and is ready to do anyone an act of kindness. Chivalry is his watchword.

DORA L. MAHLKUCK, B.S.
Monroe, Wis.

Dora surprised us all this year. The 26th of October marked a focalization of her interests for life. We are sure that she is well suited for the position. A girl quiet, sympathetic, and understanding—not afraid of door bangs either. She has the kind of pep that gets there.

EDWIN G. MOEDE, B.A.
Marshall, Minn.

As earnest in everything as in making the College Chronicle a success. We have known him through his College career as a perfect gentleman, excellent scholar and a friend worthy of having. Good luck to you, Ed. "May your joys be as deep as the ocean and your troubles as light as its foam." His cheery smile will greet us again next year, as he expects to transfer his efforts across to the Seminary.

MABEL MORRISON, B.A.
Fremont, Ohio

One of our Buckeyes. One of the few girls who braved the unequal ratio of the S. A. T. C. days. She is quiet, earnest, with her chief interest centered across the way. She has joined the Volunteers and we expect to hear of her in the days to come. We wish you and Bert the best of success. The class will back you in every endeavor.

LUELLA MOEDE, B.A.
Marshall, Minn.

Unassuming in her ways, never seeking the spotlights, she represents that straight forward, conscientious type of girl who hits her mark no matter how high her aim. Luella was a member of the Varsity debating squad for two years and leaves a place there that will be hard to fill. We can safely bet that if you continue to hold up the standards like you have in the past, the wings of success will soon be clipped.

KARL MOSER, B.A.

Hiawatha, Kans.

He is quiet and one of the most unassuming men with whom we have ever come into contact. Because of this trait he has won many lasting friends in the class of '22 in the time he has been with us. He hails from that section of the country where a man's a man, and grew up in the atmosphere of the stern West. Parting with men like him is what makes Graduation so hard.

THERESA A. NEIN, B.A.

Chippewa Falls, Wis.

Who would think that our shy Miss Nein had a taste for such things as sines and angles and tangents? Yet we must admit that the B.A. after her name represents hours and hours of digging in Math. books. And we must also tell you that she has also delved in astronomy, both theoretical and practical. She comes to us after three years elsewhere, but she thought enough of North-Western to want to graduate here.

ANTON NAPOLI, B.A.

Milwaukee, Wis.

"Nap" says he prefers "romance" languages which he can mouth with utmost freedom. He is fond of Milwaukee also. The '23's were just a little too slow for him so he hurried and caught up with us. Is a member of the B. O. L.'s or L. O. B.'s—for meaning of the letters see "Nap." His chief delight is arguing, and we believe he would indulge in this pastime to the neglect of the pangs of hunger.

GLADYS M. NEWTON, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

Who has not heard her in the interpretation of some striking reading and come away a better and truer man or woman? Or what member of Zeta has not witnessed evidence of her wit in the original papers, bristling with humor. She is one of those who keep the conversational ball a-rolling. She lives a little jaunt from school—we envy her proximity.

HOWARD L. ORIAN, B.A.
Marion, Ohio

Howard is the hardest man in school to get any dope on, barring none. We should really say the hardest man to get it by, for with an editor's eye we must be careful. We know what he has done around school, a shark in class and a pusher and good mixer outside of class. Wobley is liked by everyone. His interest lies in Marion. Best wishes to you, hard-working editor.

G. HARRISON ORIAN, B.A.
Marion, O.

We wonder how the story of North-Western's forensics of the past four years would read had it not been for Harry—four times this year his arguments were convincing the home audience. Whether it be in taking scholasite honors, or in working or what not, the secret to his success is that he never gives up when he has set his mind to something. A faithful and loyal friend, from Harding's town.

CLARENCE E. PARR, B.A.
Laurel, Ore.

To say that anything is above par is to speak highly of economic value, but to say that anyone at North-Western surpasses his eloquence is to delude the mind with an illusion. He comes to us from far away Oregon and says there's a reason for going so far to find his Alma Mater. We think he brought his reason along with him. As president of the Volunteer Band he proved himself to be an untiring worker at any task to which he set his hands.

C. HOBART RICKERT, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

He is one of Naperville's own sons and the city can be proud of him. He has successfully engineered the "Y" in his senior year. Hobie is one of those kind of fellows that is a friend to everyone who knows him. He has a mountain heart of gold—anything that is his is ours. With such a character and personality he is sure to be successful in the ministry. We wish you luck, Hobie.

IVAN D. PATTERSON, B.A.
Plainfield, Ill.

"Pat" is majoring in the chemical sciences, but even the gruesome details and occasional explosions do not seem to be able to down his effervescent spirits. We haven't been able to ascertain whether or not his knowledge of scientific principles has been responsible for his success in the gentle art of making love, but we do know that his efforts have been crowned with success.

WALTER E. RILLING, B.A.
Van Wert, Ohio

After two years at Ohio State, "Newt" decided to join us, perhaps to be nearer to Oak Park. His father is a preacher, but Newt is headed toward business. His feet soon found the way to Bolton and he now goes there as often as any of the rest of us. Walter entered immediately into the spirit of the institution on his arrival and became a part of the big family.

AUGUST L. RITZERT, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

Not adverse to conversation, but seldom expresses his opinion unless he is asked, or in good humor. He may truthfully be said to have more business than any member in the class. Augie has a lot of sand because his father runs a gravel pit. All who know him at all inevitably acclaim him one of the biggest-hearted men they know. Good luck to you, August.

ANDY RITAN, B. A.
Cumberland, Wis.

It is doubtful if N. W. has a man on the campus more loved, admired, and respected by all who know him, than Andy. Ever since he first came to us in the S. A. T. C. days from the North he has been an all-around athletic and a pivotal man on the football and basketball teams. We wish him the best of success as he enters the medical profession, and cheers men by his medicine as he does with his pep.

CARLIE RUTH, B.S.
South Bend, Ind.

Here's the girl with the smile that won't come off. She bestows it impartially on all her admirers. She never loses her blithe manner—no, not even in exams. With this happy disposition we do not wonder that Cleon was so early drawn to her.

"Carlisle is not Carlisle unless she be Smiling and kind and full of glee."

MATTHEW H. SCHRENK, B.A.
Randolph, Kans.

Having heard of the wonders of Marconi and his achievements he took up the deep study of electricity. Matt came to us from Randolph, but we can't hold that against the little metropolis. Tall, handsome and good-natured he is apt to be a victim of the Vamps.

"Fair and square and tall and slim,
Oh lucky Matt, we envy him."

ALLIE E. SCHNEIDER, B.S.
Blue Earth, Minn.

They say she is from Blue Earth, but neither the earth nor any person could be blue around her very long. Cheery, popular, peppy. When it comes to her specialty, you must see her acting the part of the new Freshman in the Glee Club or the Dutch maiden in the May Fete. In both she is without peer. As we bid you goodbye it is with a feeling that much good has come to us through contact with you.

DELLA A. SCHUELKE, B.A.
Marshfield, Wis.

Here is another of our recent acquisitions, this being her first year at North-Western. Eau Claire Normal and experience as a real schoolmaam have made up the rest of her schooling. She might truthfully be called the power behind the throne in regard to the College Chronicle for she seems very well able to manage the manager.

MELVIN A. SIMONSEN, B.A.
Milwaukee, Wis.

Handicapped by claiming Milwaukee as his home, Melvin has progressed steadfastly in his four years at N. W. C. Cheerful, friendly, and frank—that's Schlitz. As a member of the Varsity tennis team he acquired considerable skill in the "love game," and not in vain, either, we make bold to state. Melvin has already begun his studies "across the way," where we can probably find him next year.

THEDA SCHUELKE, B.A.
Marshfield, Wis.

She, too, felt that one school was not sufficient for her education, so her presence has graced our campus during the past year. Like her sister she has a smile for everyone and we can consider ourselves fortunate that she decided to join the class of '22.

LEO J. SPITTLER, B.A.
Mendota, Ill.

Leo is one of those kind of fellows you meet a few times in a lifetime. He came back and joined the class of '22 in the fall of '21. True hearted, considerate and frank, Leo has won friends who appreciate these qualities—A man, a senior and a loyal gentleman. The wishes of the Class of '22 go with you.

CLEON V. STEELE, B.A.
Van Wert, Ohio

"Bud" proved his sticking qualities by acting as backstop on the baseball team. He just couldn't be moved. Carlie will testify to that. We also remember him as the fighting captain of the football seconds. He is always jolly and humorous—if he is not hungry. Whenever it comes to championing a just cause we believe we can always rely upon Cleon.

FRANK A. SPONG, B.A.
Marshall, Minn.

We don't know where he came from. He was first seen chasing around the cinder path on Seager Field. Frank won both the mile and the two-mile in the state meet last year and is captain of the track team. He is one of the few men that believes "if anything is worth doing at all it is worth doing well." As we bid him good-bye it is with a feeling that our lives have been made more worthwhile through contact with him.

FLORENCE L. UMBREIT, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

She pulls an A from here and there,
She paints with skill and ease;
She sings to charm away despair,
She knows just how to please.

"Fritz" is a resident of Naperville, which gave her an advantage over the rest of the girls, whence her early interest in art, Athletics, Glee Club, and other activities also claim their share of her time.

VERNON A. UTZINGER, B.A.
Racine, Minn.

He has especial interest in plays and women, but he modestly asserts that he doesn't have much luck judgin' either. A joke is his delight, as is well shown by his successful managing of the Blues
Killer in the Chronicle. "Gizzie" tells us that he going to be a school teacher, but considering the ease with which his mind is changed, it is extremely hazardous to predict his future, except to say it is before him.

MILDRED S. UMBREIT, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

Who can soon forget the little girl who played guard on the championship basketball team? Folks say she likes her name so well that she refuses to change it.

"From early dawn to gathering night,

From April to October,

Through sun and rain, through dark and light,

The girl will ne'er be sober."

ARLEY H. VOSS, B. A.
Bellingham, Minn.

When Arley came to us as a green Freshman we would all acclaim him the most bashful fellow we ever saw—and he kept the reputation till he met Midge—then the transformation took place. Voss is loyal, sincere and full of the N. W. spirit. His motto is: "It's all right to love humanity, but I was born a specialist."

CARL R. WEGNER, B.A.
Loveland, Colo.

Here is another of our recent acquisitions. Carl came to us from Colorado and has made his presence felt with us by endearing himself to a great host of friends. He possesses a double portion of serious frankness that his brother acquainted us with last year. His first three years we spent in Col. State Agricultural. He's quiet, but he gets things done efficiently—the kind that North-Western needs.

MATT. C. WAGNER, B.A.
Cullbertson, Nebr.

Here it is! A beaming smile and not a single hair out of place. This last feat is Matt's greatest pride and joy. Who will ever know how long it took to discipline that mass, so that it flies instantly into place when he has dishevelled it in the midst of yell-leading. His main ambition is lots of pep in yelling. Another frequent visitor at Bolton Hall or vicinity.

T. FRANKLIN WEINERT, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

Tophy is the staff Kodakist—the camera fiend of '22. He is a dangerous person to have around, for one—or two—can never know when he will be on hand to snap a sudden picture with revealing consequences. When he isn't to be found slenthing about for somebody's picture, he may be found at the Shumakers, or perhaps examining the anatomy of some bug in Zoo. lab.

CARL F. ZIETLOW, B.A.
Norfolk, Wis.

Carl came to us in the topsy-turvy S. A. T. C. days. Since that time he has become a strong enthusiast in the "bobbed hair issue." His favorite song is "Just One Girl." Carl is public-spirited and a stick-to-it type. He is going to enter the ministry. Seeing a "felt" need, we hope that he plays a big part in bringing about a "golden" realization.

MARTHA E. YACKEL, B.A.
Naperville, Ill.

Martha's first year at N. W. was spent in quiet and studying. Whether it is as true since she has made this town her abode, we are not so sure. She sizes us up in the library, but incidentally sizes up our wants at the same time. In dramatics we saw her at her best, but we forget not all the evidences of true North-Western spirit that we see her reveal.

CLASS SONG

Words by Gladys Newton
Moderato.

Music by A.L. Hafenrichter.

1. The years are on-ward roll-ing, and on the moments fly,
2. We'll not for-get our col-lege home, our Al-ma-Mat-er true;
3. Thy tow-ers with their lof-ty peaks in-spi-re us to do,

And Time, with fleet-ing foot-steps, is swift-ly pass-ing by,
And ev-er shall the flame be bright, of friend-ships old and true,
To seek the best there is in store, the nob-lest and the true.

When col-lege days are ov-er, We'll go our place to fill,
The halls with mirth and laugh-ter, of old days still re-sound,
To grap-ple prob-lems large and small, no task to ev-er shrink,

But as we leave these hal-low'd halls, bright mem-ries ring-er still,
And in our hearts deep treas-ured, these ech-os may be found,
To fol-low du-ty where she leads, not in the shad-ows lurk.

CHORUS.

So now fare-well North-West-ern, We'll raise your stand-ards high,

And skies will smile in the aft-er while, On our class of twen-ty two,

FROSH WIN SACK RUSH IN BATTLE WITH SOPHS

On last Monday afternoon at five o'clock there took place at Seager Field the third organized class scrap between the Freshman and the Sophomore classes. This event was the annual sack rush.

Thirty-five huskies from each class arrayed in their oldest and most dilapidated clothes, were stationed at either end of the football field, while five sacks were placed across the middle of the field. A judge was given supervision over each sack and the outcome of the contest was to be determined by the total number of yards gained by each team. But in case a team carried a sack over their goal, that sack would count one hundred points. That team would, however have to guard that sack and keep it from being carried back on to the field. The contest was to be staged in two 10 minute halves.

At the signal of the whistle the two teams were on at full speed, intent on bringing the sack back to their respective goals. And what took place at each of the five sacks may best be described by saying that there was a confusion of pulling and pushing and the strength of one individual pitted against that of another. The tide of battle surged back and forth until Parker, by freeing himself and ending his opponents in some clever manner dashed down the field across the Freshman goal with the first sack. At the end of the first half the points were 100 for the Freshmen and 24 for the Sophomores. In the second half of the contest the score was more evenly divided, each team carrying a sack across their goal line. But the Frosh had gained too great a lead in the first half and the final score was 231 points for the Freshmen and 166 for the Sophomores. Mention must be made of the fact that many of the members of the teams were relieved of their shirts and other articles of clothing, and spectators could easily get souvenirs of the event in the form of these discarded articles of clothing.

FRESHMAN CLASS MAKES MERRY IN GYM

The gymnasium, which was attractively decorated with the class colors, blue and gold, was the scene of much jollification on Wednesday evening, November 23rd. The members of the Freshman Class, with their class advisor, Professor Oliver, enjoyed their first formal party of the year. During the first part of the evening, unlimited merriment was created by the playing of games. Following this was the program which was so well presented by various members of the class. The play "Marionettes" deserves special mention. Music furnished by the orchestra throughout the evening was also an enjoyable attraction. Delicious refreshments terminated the fun of the evening.

COLOR RUSH ENDS IN FORFEITURE TO SOPHOMORES

Monday evening, November 7th, the fourth event in the series of organized class scraps took place around the spruce tree, just north-east of the gymnasium. This event was in the nature of a color-rush between the Freshmen and Sophomores. About 12 feet from the ground on this tree the Sophomore colors were placed. The object of the event was for the 25 Sophomore men, who guarded the colors, to prevent the 40 Freshmen from taking them down within a period of 15 minutes from the time that the contest started.

At the shot of the gun the Freshmen dashed in from opposite directions upon the men clustered about the tree. And to a large degree, there followed tumbling and pulling and wrestling similar to the recent sack-rush. Time and again a nimble Freshman would scale the human mass about the tree, similar to a soldier "going over the top," and would start his ascent up the tree to lay his hands upon the coveted colors, only to be rudely grasped by some Sophomores and compelled to come back to "terra firma." Similar occurrences took place for some time. Then the unexpected happened. A member of the Freshman class, who, according to the rules of the contest, was ineligible, entered into the fray and scarcely before anyone had noticed him, had hauled down the colors. The length of the event thus far had been 7 minutes. Due to the fact that one of the rules of the contest had been violated by the Freshmen, the judges automatically gave the Sophomores class.

The results of the four class scraps are:

Event	Winner
First Tug of War	Sophs
Second Tug of War	Sophs
Sack Rush	Frosh
Color Rush	Sophs

FRESHMEN HONOR BASKETBALL CHAMPS

Last Friday evening, the members of the '25 basketball quintette and their coach were the honored guests at a supper served in the First church parlors, given by the Freshman class. The occasion will be remembered as the commemoration of the evening of the intra-mural basketball trophy and it was also a means of showing the appreciation for the splendid work done by the girls' basketball team. Franklin Schleter acted as a very efficient toastmaster and various members of the class contributed to the splendid program of toasts and musical numbers. The toast given by Miss Nina Rhees, "To the Victors Belong the Spoils," deserves special mention. Every Freshman present agreed that the supper was a fitting close for a successful basketball season.

FRESHMEN MAKE THEIR DEBUT AT THE ANNUAL TERM SOCIAL

On Monday evening, October 3rd, the Annual Term Social of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. was held in Nichols Hall. Upon entering, the old students at once proceeded to fill their folders with the names of those students who were then present. About eight o'clock the word was given that the Freshmen were coming, whereupon the orchestra began to play the march. Ushered by the Misses Carle Ruth and Florence Umbreit, the Class of 1925 marched in, and it was indeed a sight to thrill the hearts of loyal North-Westerners. After marching completely around the Hall these youthful aspirants for knowledge gave several yells, filled with real North-Western pep and enthusiasm, and then demonstrated their ability to "mix" by the way in which they began to get the names of their fellow students.

The short program of the evening was opened by a double number from the Girl's Glee Club, which was much enjoyed. Oras Grenzsbach, the president of the student body gave a short address in which he welcomed the Freshmen as brothers and sisters. George Baker the Chairman of the Freshman Committee responded, giving expression to the appreciation of the Class for the welcome, and also expressing their desire to respond as brothers and sisters, and to uphold the ideals of North-Western College.

Following these addresses, Professor Oliver gave two readings, after which the Girls' Glee Club gave another selection.

At the close of the evening the Hand-Books were distributed and refreshments were served, consisting of candies uniquely arranged in the form of boutonnières. When the quest for names was satisfied the company dispersed, thus ending the final initiation of the Freshmen into the social life of North-Western.

THE FRESHMAN ORGANIZATION HAS NOW BEEN COMPLETED

At a recent meeting of the Freshman Class officers were elected to serve for that organization for the coming year. This was to complete the organization made at the beginning of the school year, when a temporary staff was selected. After consultation and advice Professor Oliver, the Class Advisor, had chosen George H. Baker as temporary president, and also announced a committee of seven to act pending the election of permanent officials.

The following permanent officers have been chosen:
President, George H. Baker.
Vice President, Miss Alma Houser.
Secretary, Donald Feller.
Treasurer, Paul Gliese.

SOPHS PULL FROSH THROUGH RIVER AFTER BATTLE OF HOUR AND HALF

The second clash between the Sophomores and the Freshmen was a tug-of-war which took place on Monday, October 10. Fifteen husky Freshmen were lined up on the east side of the DuPage River near Rohr's Greenhouse and the same number of Sophomores were ready for action on the west side of the river, when the "trumpet" sounded at 6:45 o'clock in the evening. As soon as both teams fell upon the ground they were ready for intense action, which was exercised all during the one hour and a half of steady pulling.

For a time it seemed as if both sides were clamped to the earth's surface, but little by little the Freshmen gave way to the steady and persistent pulling of the Sophomores. Just at this moment, when both teams were taxing their consolidated energy to the limit, the moon seemed to be unveiled by the powers of nature and made an almost dramatic scene of the occasion.

The side lines were crowded with anxious spectators who cheered each attempt made by either side to force the other into the rippling, meandering waters of the DuPage. Finally after one hour and ten minutes of such seemingly, inexhaustible efforts, the climax of the tug was revealed as the first man on the Freshmen team dropped over the edge of the river bank. From this time on the Sophomores kept lengthening the rope on their side of the river until the Freshmen were forced to cross.

FRESHMEN ARE CHAMPS OF INTER-CLASS SERIES

A large, enthusiastic crowd witnessed the final tussle of the men's series Thursday night which the Frosh won in a hard, "rough and tumble" game. The score was 17 to 13 but the winner was unknown to the crowd until the last few minutes. The game was fast at times but a more noticeable feature was the fighting spirit displayed by the players. This was spurred on to a large extent by the rooting of the sponsors of the team. Close guarding again marked the play of both teams, practically all the baskets being long ones. The excitement was most intense in the second half when the score stood 10 to 9 in favor of the Sophs. Trollman then caged a long one and this was soon followed by another. Hof continued the barrage and Rath retaliated for the Sophs with a basket and a free throw by Hof ended the game, thus giving the Frosh the intra-mural title. There really were no individual stars on the winning team. That they all exerted themselves to the very limit was very evident to one watching the game.

Music at the North-Western

Most reputable colleges and universities of the country today have come to recognize the value of a School of Music in connection with their institution. Such a department has not always had the place it deserves and only the gradual conception of it as a real educational value has at last given it its true position. Moreover the establishment of a good School of Music as a department of a College renders that institution far more effective as a cultural center than it otherwise could possibly be.

In the Music Department of North-Western College many opportunities are available for the development of musical talent. It not only offers a musical education for technical and cultured playing upon the piano, but also provides the added advantages of voice training and instruction on pipe organ, the violin, or any band instrument desired. Practical courses in theory, harmony, and the history of music are thoroughly taught by competent instructors. A course for the successful teaching of public school music is offered for those who desire to teach. Students are awarded certificates for teaching upon the satisfactory completion of their course.

Besides proper instruction in all lines, there are other advantages to be attained at this institution. Every month a public recital is presented by students of the department, thus affording ample opportunity for public appearance. The Men's and Girls' Glee Clubs are open to those who prove their capabilities in an open tryout.

Neither can we fail to mention the musical programs presented by capable artists who are secured for the purpose by the college. Then there are untold opportunities to hear the leading musical talent of the country as it appears in Chicago from time to time. Taken altogether the opportunities for a thorough musical training that are to be found under this department can hardly be duplicated elsewhere.

Girls' Glee Club

Music—that is the object of the Girls' Glee Club. Membership is secured by a competitive try-out on the basis of musical ability. At the beginning of every school year twenty-four members are chosen and of these twelve are selected to take the summer trip. The Club offers a thorough training in the interpretation of the best music. It is only through the untiring efforts of Prof. Pinney that the Club has its high standing.

They say there is a certain fascination and an indescribable thrill about setting sail and so it was the 11th of June when the Girls' Glee Club, accompanied by Mrs. Finkbeiner, set sail amid floods of tears, in a sea of handkerchiefs, on the New York Central for South Bend, Indiana. The Club had begun the Eastern trip. At Monroe, Mich., the club realized its first beach party on Lake Erie amid fish flies. How Helen Tallman ever lived through that day is still a miracle to us. Everywhere, the club made a mad race to the post office in which Lorraine Shrock always won.

Crossing the Detroit River into Canada was quite different, and the first day was spent in exchanging American money and learning their national anthem. After spending a few days at Camp Meeting at Mildmay, Ont., we all agreed with Harriet Kraushar that Canada did surpass the United States in one thing and that was in the quantity and quality of the mosquitos. After a three weeks tour through Ontario, the U. S. welcomed us back with a heavy rain at a very inopportune time. "Changing street cars three times during a downpour without an umbrella and with two heavy suit cases is hard on summer hats and knees" says Ruth Dissinger.

Niagara Falls washed away our spare change and made Allie and Carlie decide not to spend their honeymoons there. Miss Dentler joined us here and took Mrs. Finkbeiner's place and soon declared that teaching of Food Chemistry is mild as compared to chaperoning twelve Glee Club Girls.

The trip down the Hudson River from Albany to New York was ideal—especially for sun burned arms. Then the club was able to realize its long looked for ambition—seeing New York City; The statue of Liberty, Woolworth Building, N. Y. Stock Exchange Wall St., and the Sub-Treasury Building must have been too much for the bunch for Newark, Philadelphia and Easton found the Club missing trains. From New York, the club went to Pennsylvania, then to Ohio, and finally to Indiana. The last concert was given at Wauwasee after a 45 mile truck ride. Fritz Umbreit will testify that realizations exceed anticipations. Needless to say, Edna Kluckhohn profited by her experience of falling into the lake, and that day will linger long in her memory as well as in ours.

It is with a feeling of deep gratitude that we look back to the hours and days spent in Glee Club practice at N. W. C., and vow anew that we will be true to her ideals and traditions.

Men's Glee Club

Probably the most effective booster organization for a "Greater North-Western" is the North-Western College Men's Glee Club. Through its ten-week trip each summer Evangelical communities reaching from New York City to Denver are touched and the youth inspired to attend the college supported by their fathers. It carries to other communities the unusual spirit engendered here and gives real evidence of the high type of manhood that is here fostered.

Any man in college with a musical inclination has an opportunity to make the Glee Club. At the beginning of each school year a general try-out is held and from the material that shows up a Squad of twenty-five members is chosen. These men work throughout the year, put on the home concert and several concerts in this vicinity and form a nucleus for the next year's club. This is splendid training, for a musical appreciation is secured, an ease in stage and platform appearance is acquired, social contact is developed and the practice periods form worthwhile hours of relaxation. From the Squad a summer Traveling Club is selected in the Spring of the year.

In the tour West the 1921 Summer Club made the most extensive tour ever taken by a North-Western Glee Club. The Club traveled over 5000 miles of territory in eight states—Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado,—in 76 days given 84 concerts. On this tour Professor C. C. Pinney, our director, accompanied the Club for the first time, and to him much of the musical success of the Club is to be credited.

While the Club endeavors to present the interests of our Alma Mater there is always occasion to bring hilarity and mirth into the varied events of a Glee Club life. The efforts that the Club make in bringing enthusiasm, glee, and a greater conception of life into a community find a ready response. Especially could this be said of the hospitable West. This splendid hospitality, the lure of travel, and the making of new friends, daily quite repay the fellows for any sacrifice made in time or money. How well we recall the many motor trips, picnics, parties, unusual sight-seeing opportunities that were provided for us. Quite well we remember our launch trip to the "Dells of Wisconsin," our "Mess Call" at the Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary, our sensational motor trip to the summit of Pike's Peak, and the frequent (?) messes of trout that Rath provided while we "Batched" it 11,000 feet above sea level in our cabin at Estes Park. These are but disconnected reminiscences of the new and unique events that we experienced daily.

The Men's Glee Club then, is a booster for the college, and an organization where a man finds keen enjoyment not only from the viewpoint of venting enthusiasm but also from the realization that musical education of enduring value is being obtained.

North-Western College Orchestra

Music is as immortal as the heart of man; it is the breath and finer spirit of love, it is the image of God and Nature. It has been said that the man who does not appreciate music in any form has murder in his heart. If you would feel music in its finer sense, the Orchestra of North-Western offers unbounded opportunities to the musician and also to the other student through the Concerts.

The Orchestra is in the third year of its existence, having been organized in October of 1919. Each year it has increased in membership as well as quality. The amateur who avails himself of the privilege to play in the Orchestra will soon find himself experiencing new thought and life in music. Rehearsals are held regularly every week and only music of the highest grade is studied. The first essentials of a perfect assemblage, precision and detail, are the primary efforts of the organization.

The past season has been very successful, which success is due directly to our director, Prof. C. C. Pinney, Director of the School of Music. Mention should also be made of the officers who have been faithful in the performance of their duties.

It would be unfair to the reader of this article if we did not give you at least a peep into the enjoyment and embarrassment that we experience at rehearsals. Any casual observer who would peep through the Chapel door on a Wednesday night between 7:00 and 7:30 would behold an interesting spectacle. At the front of the stage on a little table, he might see our director with coat off and sleeves rolled up, violently waving the round of a chair as a baton, (for no ordinary baton could stand the strain), or pounding his stand most unmercifully with his patent baton. Meanwhile the sweetest music is coming forth from the strings and bells. But the same stimulus will not always produce the desired result, so the next selection portrays the director waving the baton frantically on the beat, his foot stamping out the after-beat and I'm sure I don't know what the facial expression means. Then!—Suddenly the baton taps the stand, and all the music stops and that old chair round points right at you and even your chair shakes—But—it is real enjoyment when the baton points the other way. But before we start to reveal any of our secrets, we will draw the curtain and let you imagine the rest.

North-Western College Band

In recent years with the increased demand for public school music there has come a demand for military band work, especially in secondary schools, but also in the colleges throughout the country. There have not been enough efficient men available to meet the demand for directors of such organizations. It is then a very important asset to North-Western College to offer opportunities for training in this field. In this respect she holds a unique position among Colleges of her rank in the state, having maintained a band of no mean calibre for the past eight years.

This year because of the strict competition it has become necessary to have both a varsity and second band. The varsity band, numbering twenty-two members prepares public programs and functions at various extra—curricular activities throughout the school year, sometimes traveling with athletic teams. In this way not only the members but also the entire school and the community are benefited. The second band offers adequate training through weekly rehearsals to those not yet ready to take up work with the Varsity. Thus all who have talent and desire to develop themselves have ample opportunity to do so.

Both of these bands are under the personal supervision of Professor Petrie, Instructor in brass instruments. Prof. Petrie is well qualified for this work, having studied for a number of years under some of the best instructors of these instruments and musical composition in the country.

Mr. Hafenrichter, assistant director of the band, is instructor of reed instruments. He has also had many years experience in directing and teaching.

To any who desire to study this branch of public school music Northwestern College offers a special opportunity for such development through these efficient organizations.

The Oratorio Association

For some years a need was felt to give an opportunity to more students to take part in choral music. To meet this need the Oratorio Association of North-Western College was organized in 1918.

It is the aim of this organization to bring before the largest possible number of students the very best works by noted composers. Not only the student, but the whole community is benefitted by such a study.

In the past years the Association has studied and given "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" and "The Death of Minnehaha" by S. Coleridge Taylor, and Mendelsohn's "Hymn of Praise". Last year Mendelsohn's "Elijah" was successfully given. With a large and enthusiastic membership the Association will this year present Handel's "Messiah".

The production of works of such high calibre is only made possible by the able directorship of Prof. C. C. Pinney, and the co-operation of the members. The value of the work done by the Oratorio Association is growing from year to year, and it is a privilege for anyone to belong to the organization.

Student Self Government

Student self government is the expression of a democratic principle applied to student life—the principle that the governed student should have some means of determining how he shall be governed. The importance of self-government does not rest solely in the immediate effects it produces, for it also has a more permanent basis of evaluation. The student who has been trained to realize his individual responsibility toward a student self-government has formed ideals that can only result in a more interested, responsive and capable citizenship.

We feel confident that this idea has not been entirely lost in our local organization at N. W. C. Our students choose their representatives—fourteen in number who form a Council which is presided over by a president elected each year by popular vote. The purpose of this Council is to co-operate with the faculty in maintaining high standards about the school, and in bringing before the faculty the opinions of the students; to consider matters relative to the formation or conduct of any student organization and to pass upon all matters, not strictly academic, concerning the relationships between students and student organizations. During the past year the Council has taken a decided stand against hazing and class scraps were organized to give leeway to the “pent-up” surplus energy of the lower classmen. These scraps included a tug-of-war across the DuPage, a sack rush, and a color rush. To meet the need for “organized pep”, a “College Pep” committee was created to stimulate interest and enthusiasm at all athletic contests. With a very democratic spirit, the faculty granted a weekly student chapel at which various groups of students have charge. The point system was further revised—limiting still further the number of points one student may hold. Many other matters were discussed and acted upon throughout the year.

It is our hope that Student self government will continue to develop that a greater spirit of individual responsibility will be aroused, in order that the scope of service rendered by the Council will grow until the reality and value of student government will be enjoyed by every student. Then North-Western as an educational institution will fully take her part in building up an intelligent, trained and responsible citizenship—a citizenship that can continue to develop the ideals and standards of our forefathers.

Young Women's Christian Association

There are many influences about a college which instil within the students high ideals and worthy purposes. At Northwestern the greatest constructive and determining Christian force for the development of womanhood is the Y. W. C. A. This is a comradeship of girls linked together in a voluntary Association for the purpose of affiliating their lives with the principles and standards of the Christ, and helping them to find their place of service in the great program of a Christian democracy.

It is by means of the discussion groups on Tuesday evening, the prayer or conference services on Thursday night, and the Sunday afternoon Vesper that the students get together for things spiritual. Here the everyday questions and personal problems that a student's life is confronted with find solution. During the "Week of Prayer" the students are presented with the life and ideals of Jesus Christ and His Claim upon their lives. This year Rev. Praetorius of Cleveland, Ohio, conducted these services in a very effective manner. Many hard things were fought through, often resulting in an enlistment of a life for service for the Master.

This organization is the only one on the campus which includes every girl regardless of race, position or talent. The only qualification for membership is that she be in sympathy with the purpose of the Association and declares it her purpose, "to be a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ."

The Y. W. is ready to serve every girl from the moment she reaches her college town until the close of her Northwestern career. The "New Girl" finds herself welcomed at the station with a big smile and cheery greetings. She is given assistance in finding her room and is made to feel at home in just a short time.

This organization is not only interested in the religious life of every girl, but has a deep regard for the highest development of her social, physical, and mental life as well.

The Y. W. C. A. stands for all those high and noble things that a girl wants her life to include. The most we can say is that the sign of the Blue Triangle carries with it the purpose of developing true Christian womanhood.

M. E. H.

Young Men's Christian Association

North-Western College is growing and with this growth comes the increased task of instilling into the lives of the students Christ's principles and ideals.

There are many influences about college which contribute toward the high ideals and noble purposes of its students, but the greatest of these constructive Christian forces is the college Y. M. C. A. We believe that Christianity and education should go hand-in-hand and that a man to be educated for complete service to society must be educated Christian. Therefore the Y. M. C. A. has concentrated its various activities toward the development of four-square men.

As to the measure in which we have helped to move lives and as to how far we have helped to direct men's thoughts toward things worth while we shall never know, but we hope we have not spent the year in vain.

We add here a few statements concerning the various fields of Association work which we have endeavored to promote.

Not every student is a member of the Association but the percentage of those who are not is very low and when it is noted that members were taken in, not at random, but on their belief in the Association's objectives; it is a significant fact.

Perhaps the most pronounced work of the Association has been the securing of such Y. M. C. A. men as G. Sherwood Eddy, J. Stitt Wilson, Harrison S. Elliott and Fred H. Rindge to give their messages on World Brotherhood, Christian Living, and Social Service work.

In promoting the spiritual side of the Association work there were arranged an excellent series of Vesper services including Christian laymen and professional men, who delivered vital messages to the students, and a number of musical programs by the students. The weekly prayer meetings, discussion groups, and deputation work added to this phase of Y. M. C. A. work.

The social side was in the hands of the Social Committee. "The Stag", given by them and in co-operation with the Y. W. C. A., the "Term Social", the "Annual Reception" and the "Farmers' Institute" constituted the social program.

The "service" side of the Association work came under these various committees, Campus Service, Social service, Literature and Employment. And the work done in this field has been large.

The thought to be gathered from these brief statements is this: the Y. M. C. A. is interested in students and their welfare and because of this interest its biggest work still is to present Christ to every man and to lead every man to Christ.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps

Under the efficient direction of the new commandant, Captain Henry T. Kent, the Military Department has developed with rapid strides during the past year. At the beginning of the school year the War Department assigned Capt. Kent here as Professor of Military Science and Tactics, and First Lieutenant Donald A. Fay as Assistant Professor of that department.

The unit consists of 120 members, including ten cadet officers. These make up one battalion composed of two companies, as well as a large band. The work consists of close-order drill, calisthenics, bayonet drill, skirmish drill, map-making and various other phases of military activities, all correlating with the theoretical class work. During the year several reviews and parades are staged by the Battalion on the campus. The sponsors' Review promises to be an annual event. A fair Co-ed is elected to serve as sponsor, one for each company, as well as one for the battalion. A review is given in their honor in May and is quite a festal event. The review in honor of the Senior cadet officers is also one of the gala events of the season.

The Varsity Rifle Team, made up of 15 men of the Unit, represented the school in several matches with other unit teams.

This year marks the graduation of the first class of cadet officers who have completed the entire four year course and who receive their commissions as second lieutenants in reserve. Although the unit here is but four years old, the graduating class of eight men as the first class to receive their commissions is a memorable event.

To say that the R. O. T. C. at Northwestern is a success is indeed putting it mildly. Although the training is not compulsory as is the case with all land grant colleges, no difficulty has been felt in obtaining the necessary men for a unit here. The local unit here has the distinction of having the largest percent of men in the advanced courses of any unit in the corps 6th Area. The Unit received special mention from the commander of the work in this corps area, as to the interest and enthusiasm displayed by the men here toward the work. Using this for an index, the Military Department is destined to be one of the strong departments of the college in the future.

Athletic Review 1921-1922

The value of physical fitness has always been recognized as of prime importance and more and more we are coming to realize that the inclusion of athletic activities in the regular training given to the student in a very effective way and in a relative short space of time contributes an invaluable mental and physical experience and adds greatly to the disciplinary training.

In reviewing our athletic activities we must take into consideration the success of our representative teams and the opportunities afforded the individual student for participation in competitive sports.

In the Spring sports, 1921, base ball, track and tennis offered opportunity for unusual competition. The formation of an interclass base ball league, attractive schedules in track, tennis, and base ball, and keen competition in all the sports, served to generate an enthusiasm which led a large number of students to participate.

The base ball schedule was the heaviest in recent years and marked the re-appearance of several old athletic rivals on our field. The team played fairly good ball, splitting a series with Lombard, Lake Forest and Y college, winning from DeKalb and losing to Knox and Monmouth.

The track season opened auspiciously, the team winning the Lewis Institute invitation meet, six schools competing. A victory over Augustana followed, but in a triangular meet with Lombard and Monmouth the team placed third. In the Y. College, Lake Forest triangle North-Western placed second. Eureka won in a dual meet on our own track. Four men were sent to the state meet at Decatur, placing fifth.

The tennis team came to the front, winning a number of brilliant matches and taking second in the singles at the state meet.

We attempted the hardest foot ball schedule in many years and came out with more defeats than victories but with the satisfaction of having battled all the way.

Opening with a victory over Crane, we lost to St. Viators by a margin of one point, and to Kalamazoo, Lake Forest, Lombard and Y College in close games. The team came back brilliantly to beat Monmouth. Lombard, St. Viators and Y college came through the regular season undefeated, being classed as the best collegiate teams in the middle west.

The basket ball team enjoyed a successful season. Winning nine of the first eleven games, being on the way to a state championship when injuries overtook the squad and we lost the next three games by close scores. The team came back and closed the season with a victory.

Review Continued

In conclusion it is appropriate that we mention our intramural activities. The entry list in the annual tennis tournament and the interclass track meet was unusually large. An interclass base ball league with one team from each of the college classes, one from the Seminary, and one from the Academy brought forth large crowds and gave opportunity for a large number to participate. Three teams were placed on the football field, our second and third elevens giving ample opportunity to the inexperienced player to develop.

The inter class basket ball league with its eight teams staged an exciting race and kept the interest. More and more we are working toward the goal of general participation.

Already our gymnasium and our fields are crowded to capacity. A wholesome spirit pervades our system and the outlook is very bright for the future of North-Western athletics.

J. ARTHUR SCHWAB
CAPTAIN FOOTBALL
1921

Football seasons come and go, and the season of 1921 can now be numbered as an addition to the Historical records of Northwestern's spirit and loyalty. If we were to judge the season only by the games won and lost it would no doubt come nearer to being a failure than a success, but the team has played, outside of one or two, the very strongest teams in the state and middle west. A team certainly deserves more credit for lining up against a strong machine and being defeated than if it choose the weaker aggregation and trampled over them to victory.

The team started the season with an 18-0 victory over Crane college of Chicago. The following week the confident warriors from St. Viators invaded our camp expecting to carry off at least four touchdowns, but Northwestern showed her wares by counting out 6 for herself and leaving her opponents thankful to get away with 7. We next took on Kalamazoo College, the inter-collegiate champions of Michigan. The game was close and hard fought. Kalamazoo winning 21-0. Her points were secured only in the first 8 minutes of play. We met Lake Forest the following week on a muddy field over at Aurora and lost 14-0. In spite of the biting defeat the fellows kept up their spirit and fought their best regardless of who the opponent was. The fact that Lombard had the best team in three states goes to show that they were almost a perfect machine. Our fellows met them with a lot of drive, and in the second half by a series of well-placed forward passes Northwestern covered nearly the whole length of the field and scored the first touchdown that was chalked up against the seemingly unbeatable team. The final count was 54-7. "Y" college threw up their trenches in Naperville and won the battle by a 20-0 score. The team made its last desperate stand against Monmouth at Monmouth and won 2-0.

The student body loyally supported their football representatives and continuously cheered them on to the accomplishment of the seemingly impossible.

Clean play and a fine spirit was manifest in each game and though the season is not crowned with a string of victories, Northwestern's reputation as a school that turns out real sportsmen continues to stand, and is known by officials and football men who ever had anything to do with her football teams.

COACH HARRY T. SAXTON

Basketball

EARL E. BARTH
MANAGER OF BASKETBALL
1921-22

Old Northwestern emerged this year from a successful basketball season, winning ten games and losing five. Instrumental in making this season a success was first and foremost the team which, under the unique and intensive coaching of Coach Saxton, played remarkably good basketball. But back of the team and the coach was the untiring support of the student body. Too much credit cannot be given our student body for the support which they gave the team.

The call for candidates brought forth a large number of recruits of promise, but only two letter men, Capt. Ritan and Noerenberg, reported. After about ten days of preliminary work the squad was trimmed down to twenty and then to fifteen. And it was not until the first three games had been played that the final eight men were selected.

The season opened with a close game against our Alumni resulting in a 21 to 18 defeat. The game served as a tryout for Varsity material. In the latter part of the same week the team came back against Monmouth in probably the best game of the season, winning 29 to 19. After this game came another battle with the Alumni in which the team turned the tables, winning by a score of 22 to 14. Then came successive victories over American College 30 to 24, Crane 41-14, and Wheaton 31-9, and a defeat by a score of 19-20 from "Y" college in one of the best games of the season. The fact that Kuechel, our star center and free thrower, was forced from the game because of injuries accounts to a great extent for this defeat.

The "Y" game was followed with victories over DeKalk 25-22, Armour 17-14, Lake Forest 18-9, and then over DeKalb upon their own floor 25 to 20.

The team then hit a slump. Interest seemed to lag and as a result the next three games against Wheaton 14-16, Y College 6-23, and Lake Forest 21-25 were defeats. The team came back nicely though in the last game of the season against American College, winning from them by a score of 25 to 21.

The team may indeed be complimented upon the clean basketball which they played all the way through. They performed their work willingly and with a co-operative spirit which is hard to beat. They proved themselves to be true and loyal exponents of the good old North-Western spirit.

ANDY RITAN, Guard

Captain Andy Ritan, playing his fourth and last year of College Basketball, set the pace for his men throughout the season. He not only tied for first honors in scoring, but played a game at guard that wrought havoc to many an opposing offensive.

JAMES HARRISON KAISER, Guard

"Holkum", our next year's captain, has been an outstanding feature of the season's play. Officials and opposing coaches have all declared that Jim equals, or surpasses, any back guard in the state.

HUGO AMOS NOERENBERG, Center

Hugo also completed his last year of college basketball, leaving behind him a record of which he may well be proud. He was a good defensive man, playing a hard floor game and fitting nicely into the team's play.

WESLEY PAUL GRONEWALD, Forward

"Wes", tying with Andy for the lead in scoring, played a hard consistent game throughout the season. Wes could always be depended upon to fight to the final whistle and always gave his best to the team.

EDWARD CLAUS, Forward

Eddie, coming from last year's interclass champs, played his first year of varsity basketball. He is fast, has lots of fight, and is a great floor man. Having two years of varsity Basketball left, Eddie will undoubtedly be one of the main cogs on next year's team.

ALBERT KUECHEL, Center

Al started the season with a promise of developing into one of North-Western's greatest basketball players and was rapidly fulfilling that promise when injuries forced him out of the game for the season. There never was a free-thrower like "Kuech". With three years left, he should develop into one of the best men in the state.

THEODORE KRUKOW, Forward

Ted, a Freshman, although not breaking into the line-up so very often, played good consistent ball while on the floor. In another year Krukow will undoubtedly be awarded a regular position in the line-up.

JOHN MARTIN, Guard

Jack, coming over from one of the class teams late in the season, gave his best efforts whenever called upon. In another year Jack will put up a strong fight for a regular position on the team.

J. BOLLENBACH
CAPTAIN BASEBALL

Baseball

The 1921 Baseball season opened with a rush by defeating the Lombard team 4-3. Schneller started the season by showing some real pitching, obtaining thirteen strikeouts and allowing only four hits.

The following week end was spent down the state meeting the teams of Monmouth, Lombard, and Knox. Although our men played air-tight ball most of the time, a few costly errors caused us to lose to these schools on their home grounds.

On Tuesday, May 10th, our team came back to their own and through proper use of the bat succeeded in running a 15-5 score on "Y" college. The game was featured by six runs in the second inning and a home-run by Stenger in the sixth. Schneller allowed only one hit in six innings, and Miller, who took the mound, allowed but two.

Knox met us on our home field expecting to duplicate the trimming given us at Galesburg but through careful fielding and tight pitching we gave Knox one of the best games of the season.

On Booster Day our team won from DeKalb in a game featured by short hits and many errors. The main feature of the game was a home-run in the fifth by Gronewald. In our first meeting with Lake Forest, Coach Saxton's men bunched hits with Lake Forest's errors to pile up a 16-9 score. In our second game with Y college it looked as if it would be easy going, for the Cardinal and White started off with three runs, but Y came back with 6 runs near the end of the game and squelched our hopes. Miller pitched his first full game, getting eight strikeouts. Monmouth's twin battery was the main feature of our second meeting with the downstates, when they gave us our second defeat by a 5-2 score. Gronewald led in the batting, getting 3 out of 5 hits. On June 4 the Alumni with the ex-stars showed that they were still there by defeating the varsity 4-2. Minus the services of Capt. Bauernfeind, Schneller, and Stenger, we lost the last game of the season to Lake Forest by a 9-3 score. Miller pitched good ball but had poor support in the field since several new men had to be used.

CAPTAIN TRACK TEAM

Track

The interest shown in Track during the season of 1921 on the part of the student body as well as those participating proves its right to be classed as a major sport among athletics here at Northwestern. The early call issued by Coach Walton found about sixty men appearing for practice in preparation for perhaps the largest schedule that has ever been attempted by any track team representing this institution.

The annual inter-class meet was held April 23 with approximately fifty contestants participating, the Freshman taking highest honor with a total of 43 points, the Sophomore a close second with 39 and the Juniors third with 30 points. Great interest and keen competition was shown in all the events, due in part to increased interest, in part to the temporary disability of several varsity members of the preceding year.

The first inter-collegiate meet was held on Stagg Field, Chicago, on April 30, in which six schools participated, Northwestern taking first place. On May 5th Coach Walton's proteges defeated Augustana 74 to 57 in a dual meet at Rock Island. On the following day the team took part in a triangular meet at Monmouth, Monmouth taking first, Lombard second and Northwestern third. In all fairness to the team it must be said that they were at a disadvantage because of the important dual meeting the preceding day. May 14 the team journeyed to Lake Forest where they took part in a triangular meet. Y. M. C. A. college emerged first, N. W. C. a close second and Lake Forest third. On May 28 four men represented North Western in the State meet at Decatur, three of them annexing a total of 13 points, giving us fifth place.

Special mention should be made of the consistent work and point getting ability of Brown, Spong, and Nelson. Spong, who took first place in both the mile and two mile runs at the state meet is without doubt the best distance man in the state, having defeated every man against whom he ran this year.

During the season four college records were broken. The record in the 880 relay was broken by Harms, Schwenn, Nansen and Brown, time 1:38-1/5. Nelson broke the 880 run record making it in 2:06-1/5. Capt. Brown also clipped the 220 low hurdles record to 25-1/2. The one mile relay record now stands at 3:42-2/5, made by Nansen, Nelson, Harms and Schwen.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNNERS

Nauman (Manager), Nansen, Oeschger, Finkbeiner
Spong (Captain), Rabenstein, Lockwood, Stoesser, Zeltlow, Walton (Coach)

Cross Country

This was North-Western's second year in Cross Country running and proved to be a very successful one. Cross Country was initiated into the sports of North-Western in the fall of 1920 and although no meets were won the season's experience proved invaluable to this year's team, and from now on Cross Country running will have a large place in the fall athletics at North-Western. It not only gives opportunity for physical development for a large group of men, but it also helps develop distance men for spring track. A cross country team is usually composed of six men, five of whom count for score, the score being counted according to the order the men finish; thus the team with the low score wins. The runs range in distance from two and a half to five miles. The call for Cross country is given about the second week of school, fifteen responding to the call this year, from which the team was picked.

Frank Spong was captain and it was through his able leadership that the team was always brought to victory. He was never defeated for first place.

The first meet was held at LaGrange as a try-out meet on Oct. 15 over a course of 3.1 miles, Northwestern winning 20-35. The second was held on Oct. 22 with Knox at Knox over a distance of 3.8 miles with victory to N. W. C. 21-34. Our third meet was another victory of 21-34 over Wheaton at home over a course of 3 miles. The final meet of the season was an open conference meet held at Monmouth in which several colleges participated. Here our men were again victorious, winning with a low score of 19, and bringing home a silver Loving cup awarded by Monmouth to the winner. Thus we can see that the season was successful and, captained by Nansen, next year's team ought to have an equal measure of success.

1921 TENNIS TEAM

Oestreicher (Manager), Simonsen, Rabenstein, Ehret, Grenzebach

Tennis

The tennis season of 1921 opened with rather uncertain prospects for not one varsity man of the previous year had returned. However when the call for varsity candidates was given, the number and talent of the men that entered the tryout showed that North-Western would be well represented in the love game.

The men who won out in this contest and composed the varsity were Rabenstein, Simonsen, Ehret and Grenzebach. All of these men deserve great credit for their consistency and interest in the game. Rabenstein deserves special mention, winning seven out of eight matches in which he played and giving North-Western an extra boost by copping off second place in the state meet.

We can say without reservation that as far as Intercollegiate Tennis is concerned, North-Western has never had a better year. When we consider that not one of these men graduated last year, and that Rabenstein, the man to whom perhaps most credit for the success is due, has two more years of college tennis before him, the coming season should be still more successful. We are indeed proud of these men and all the more so when we remind ourselves that the development they get is only by consistent practice and co-operative interest and not by coaching.

Academy Basketball Team

The Academy finished a season which from the mere point of view of games won and lost was only an average season, but from the viewpoint of actual accomplishment has been highly successful. Starting with the handicap of not having one "N" man from last year's squad and fighting further handicap of sickness and injury that lost to the team two valuable men and the third for several games in mid season, a squad was finally built out of green material capable of scoring 224 points to its opponents 205.

Seminary Basketball

Basket-ball has a unique place in the athletic life of the student body of E. T. S. as is evidenced by the fact that eighteen men responded to the call for basket-ball practice last November. The competition was keen in the race for the league championship, but with all of the hard playing and splendid team work of the men from E. T. S., we had to be satisfied with second place in the league standing, the strong team representing McCormick Theological Seminary winning the championship.

The men who so faithfully and competently represented E. T. S. this year are Krell, Capt., Stehr, Podoll, Mgr., Zimdars, Schwab, Trapp, Durdle and Willard. To these men belongs the honor of upholding the standards of E. T. S. in athletics and of more firmly uniting the ties of friendship between our Seminary and the other Seminaries of Chicago and community. Not only that, we are sure these men will testify that the Christian religion means as much to them on the basket-ball floor as it does under any other conditions.

N. W. VARSITY QUINTET ADDS TWO VICTORIES TO SEASON'S RECORD

SPEEDY A. C. OF P. E. TEAM DEFEATED 30 to 24

Last Friday evening a packed house of enthusiastic rooters witnessed the Varsity basketball aggregation go down in defeat before Coach Sax's smoothly working machine, by the score of 31-9. Wheaton was unable to pierce North-Western's line of defense and time and again would rush back on their defensive formation. At no time after the first five minutes did Wheaton threaten seriously to duplicate this year. But busily to overcome North-Western's the visitors appeared on the floor lead, with a much stronger aggregation than that of last year, and the out-come of the game was uncertain until the last few minutes of play, when North-Western secured a comfortable lead.

Visitors Outplay N. W. C. at First

The game started with a rush, and for the first few minutes the visitors carried the Varsity off their feet and apparently outplayed them on every hand. The scoring was started by a free throw by Johnson of the A. C. of P. E. Knutson followed with a field goal, after which Johnson caged two free throws in rapid succession. Fickett then made a field goal, giving the visitors a lead of 7-0. Then North-Western got into its stride and Noerenberg made the first point by dropping in a field goal. Johnson then secured a free throw, after which Kuechel and Gronewald each made a field goal. The tide of the contest varied until Gronewald made a field goal, and tied the score 14-14.

WHEATON COLLEGE GOES TO DEFEAT BEFORE N. W., 31-9

Last Saturday night a large crowd of enthusiastic rooters witnessed Wheaton's basketball aggregation go down in defeat before Coach Sax's smoothly working machine, by the score of 31-9. Wheaton was unable to pierce North-Western's line of defense and time and again would rush back on their defensive formation. At no time after the first five minutes did Wheaton threaten seriously to duplicate this year. But busily to overcome North-Western's the visitors appeared on the floor lead, with a much stronger aggregation than that of last year, and the out-come of the game was uncertain until the last few minutes of play, when North-Western secured a comfortable lead.

The line-up was as follows:

Wheaton (9)
Pinkney r.f.
Gale l.f.
Stockton c
Ludgate l.g.
Coray (C) r.g.
Subs: Claus for Noerenberg; Pentas for Pinkney; Claus for Gronewald; them from scoring at critical moments for Kuechel, Brandes for Ritan.
Referee Thistlewaite.
Free Throws Pinkney 2, Stockton safely.
J. Kuechel 5.
Field Goals: Kuechel 5; Ritan 4; tackled, thus giving North-Western Noerenberg 1; Kaiser 1; Gronewald two points.
1; Gale 1; Coray 1

N. W. TAKES FINAL GAME FROM MONMOUTH; SCORE 2-0

KAISER'S LONG PUNT NETS TWO POINTS ON SAFETY

Last Saturday North-Western's football warriors won the final game of the season from Monmouth College at Monmouth, by the small score of 2 to 0. Due to the heavy snow of the night before and the consequent poor condition of the Monmouth College Athletic field, the game was held on the Independent Field, at the southwest edge of the city. The field was wet, and as a result running and tackling were uncertain. The game was featured by loose playing on both sides. Toward the end of the second quarter and again toward the end of the fourth quarter Monmouth threatened seriously to score. But North-Western's line held like a stone wall, and Monmouth lost the ball on downs.

The feature of the game was Kaiser's long punts and offensive work. Kuechel Ritan played his usual consistent game at half-back while Capt. Schwab (C) game at half-back while Capt. Schwab Kaiser tackled the opponents often for loss. Errors by Monmouth prevented them from scoring at critical moments. The two points of the game were tallied in the third quarter when Kaiser punted for 40 yards for a touchdown over Monmouth's line, where their man was tackled, thus giving North-Western two points.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM WINS MEET AND CUP AT MONMOUTH COLLEGE

North-Western's Cross-Country team closed the season on Saturday by winning the open Invitation Meet that was held at Monmouth, Ill. This makes a clean record for North-Western's team, as it has won every run or of the season. By this victory North-Western gains permanent possession of the trophy cup. Gold, silver and bronze medals were awarded for first, second, and third individual honors respectively. Monmouth took second place and Knox third.

Considering the inclement weather and the wet and slippery condition of the course the time made was excellent. Spong, of North-Western, won individual honors. Thompson, an independent runner from Gerlaw, took second, while Lockwood of North-Western was third. Nansen, Zietlow, and Rabenstein came in in succession.

The order of the runners as they finished was as follows:

1. Spong (N); 2. Thompson (Ind.); 3. Lockwood (N); 4. Miller (K); 5. F. Niblock (M); 6. Niblock (M); 7. Nansen (N); 8. Zietlow (N); 9. Rabenstein (N); 10. Dugan (M); 11. Tarry (K); 12. Smith (M); 13. Maxwell (M); 14. Laurence (K); 15. Chandler (K); 16. Pierce (K).

Points.—N. W. C. 19; Monmouth 33; Knox 44.
Time 19:55. Distance 3.8 miles

Of all the activities which North-Western offers to her students there is probably none which gives greater opportunity for development along essential lines than debate. This activity trains one to study consistently, to think logically, and to speak effectively. The superior training which comes through debate work is not limited to three men or even six men, as is the case on most campuses. During the season of 1921-1922, fifteen men and six women participated in Inter-collegiate debates. With some duplication eleven teams were formed, and debates were held with nine different colleges. The list includes Ripon College, Monmouth College, Illinois Wesleyan University, Crane College, Coe College, Wheaton College, Parsons College and Iowa State Agricultural College. Two men's triangular debates, two duals, one single, and one women's triangular debate made up the program. In these contests three different questions were used.

Three years ago, North-Western's whole debate program consisted of but one triangular debate. The great increase in the forensic program since that time cannot be accounted for by any one single factor. The work of Professor Oliver and his arrangement by which students can enroll for debate and receive college credit for their work has done much to create interest in this activity. Besides, Varsity debaters are awarded medals as athletes are awarded sweaters. The interest in debate, especially among the men has been remarkable. At no time has there been difficulty in getting men to go out. Teams are made up by try-outs open to all students.

Of the twenty-two judges who judged the work of North-Western's teams in decision debates, fourteen cast votes in favor of North-Western and eight against. Thus in spite of the fact that emphasis was placed upon the training of men rather than upon the winning of debates, a good share of the debates were won.

Phi Alpha Tau

Phi Alpha Tau is a professional Fraternity of national repute. It was founded in 1902, and has since that time enlarged itself, until today it is an organization with fifteen distinct Chapters. These Chapters are distributed throughout the entire country. East as far as Emerson College of Oratory in Mass., West to Leland Stanford University in California, North to the University of Minnesota and South to the University of Texas.

Due to the high standard in Debate and Oratory, the National Council granted a chapter to the debaters of North-Western College in 1915, designating it as Theta Chapter. Since that time it has been the uniting force which stimulated students in the Speech Arts. With the increase in the schedules in public speaking Theta Chapter has grown and is occupying a large place in student life.

The importance of the chapter cannot be overestimated. It has furnished the incentive which has brought men to the forefront in the Art of Speaking. Its ideals have been the goal of many a striving student. Its members have brought great honor to their Alma Mater as inter-collegiate debaters and orators, and acceptance into Phi Alpha Tau has been ever regarded as a mark of achievement. Nationally the Fraternity includes such men as Wilson, Sen. Johnson, LaFollette, Bryan, and others high in scale of platform achievements. It is our desire that Theta Chapter grow and foster a greater interest in the speech art.

Inter-Society Debate

The literary societies are the training ground for preparing men and women for debate work. In the society try-outs and contests students have opportunity to test themselves out along forensic lines. The men and women who represent the College on Varsity teams in practically every case have first of all been society debaters.

The same lively interest which has always been shown was manifest this year in the Inter-Society debates. In anticipation of the Inter-Collegiate contest, the Varsity question "Resolved that Congress should pass the Veterans' Adjusted Compensation Bill" was used. The preliminaries were held December 5. The first triangle composed of Sigma Delta Phi, Pallenian and Sigma Alpha Tau was won by Pallenian. In the second triangle Zetasophean won from Neotrophean and Kappa Pi Nu.

The Trophy Debate was held on December 16 and was for the third time in five years won by Zetasophean. Zeta's trophy winners were Frederick Engel, Henry Moy, Clarence Faust and Harrison Orians. Pallenian's champions were John Buente, Atlee Hafenrichter, Emerson Schmidt and Charles Bickel.

Academy Debate

Debate is an interesting feature in Academy forensics. Each year inter-Class debates are held, the semi-finals between the Junior and Senior, Freshmen and Sophomore classes. The winning teams then compete in the finals for the championship.

The Inter-Academic debaters are chosen from all four classes. These debaters are not permitted to take part in Inter-Class debate, thus giving a larger number of students a chance to participate.

Debating classes are being conducted for the benefit of the two upper classes with a half credit given toward graduation for the work successfully covered. The academy course in debate prepares a man for future debate activities in the college.

This year we entered into a triangular debate with Pleasant View College and Wheaton Academy, North-Western Academy teams winning both debates and the triangle.

The following are some of the privileges and advantages of academy debating: we have access to the mass of material used by our college debaters, the college professors interested in debate are always willing to assist academy debaters, and we also have the advantage of securing wide experienced college debaters as our coaches.

The Invisible Bed Room

HOME owners who, because of high rentals, are taking smaller quarters, "doubling up" with relatives, or housing larger households in the same space they now occupy are maintaining all their former comfort at no additional expense, by means of a Kroehler Daven-O.

The particular housewife need not fear that a Kroehler Daven-O will ever reveal the secret of its hidden bed to the daytime observer. It is just like any other fine davenport in appearance, beautifully designed, handsomely upholstered piece of living room furniture.

Charming Modern Overstuffed, Colonial and Period styles, with their rich upholstery of tapestry or velour, or substantial coverings of leather substitute, lend themselves to any decorative scheme.

All genuine Kroehler Daven-Os have the Kroehler Daven-O trade-mark. In nearly every town some good furniture dealer sells Kroehler Daven-Os, for cash or easy payments. Ask him for a demonstration today; or write us for the dealer's name and brochure.

PLAINFIELD COLLEGE

One of the essentials in any pursuit of life is to start right. The principals of correct living taught by President A. A. Smith in the Sixties when a student in the primitive period of N. W. College are the fundamentals of our prosperity. They have helped us to build correctly and in due time to establish ourselves in business and enjoy the confidence of the Public. Our stock of merchandise is always up to the tick of the clock and consists of dry goods, notions, groceries, etc. Students will find our store a congenial trading place.
